Established industrial base in the heart of South Moravia

Brno and its surrounding region represent one of the strongest industrial and technology hubs in Central Europe. South Moravia combines a long-standing manufacturing tradition with a rapidly growing high-tech and R&D sector. The region is home to global companies in automotive, engineering, electronics and advanced technologies. Brno is the second-largest city in the Czech Republic and a major university centre with over 65,000 students, particularly in technical, IT and engineering disciplines. Competitive labour costs, strong technical education and a dynamic innovation ecosystem make the region highly attractive for manufacturing and logistics operations.

- ▶ Regional population: over 1.2 million (South Moravian Region)
- ▶ More than 65,000 university students in Brno
- ▶ Strong automotive, engineering and technology cluster
- ▶ Excellent quality of life supporting talent attraction and retention

Strategic location with direct motorway connectivity

CTPark Modřice is located immediately south of Brno with direct access to the D52 motorway, ensuring fast connection to the D1 (Prague–Ostrava) and D2 (Brno–Bratislava) highways. The park benefits from excellent access to Austria and Slovakia, making it ideal for cross-border logistics and regional distribution. Brno offers a well-developed public transport network and international airport (Brno–Tuřany Airport), as well as direct rail connections to Prague, Vienna and Bratislava.
